Project Overview

Chuck Prosper, Chief Executive, Northwest

Building the Peter Paulsen Pavilion

PeaceHealth St. Joseph is investing in the health of our community by expanding and renovating our medical center campus—totaling 120,000 square feet and six floors! Peter Paulsen, a former Bellingham resident was inspired to give a gift of $50 million to launch this historic effort following the incredible contributions from many other community leaders. The new pavilion will feature:

- A Rooftop Helipad
Improving patient safety & health outcomes
- Floors 4-5
Women’s and Children’s Services
- Floors 2-3
Patient care rooms
- Floor 1
Modern, unified Emergency Department
- Ground Floor
Lobby, Community Center and Healing Garden

120,000

Square feet in a modern, high-tech pavilion.

80

New patient rooms with space specifically designed for families.

6

New floors provide optimal space to care for our community.

2

Floors dedicated to Women and Children’s Services.

Helipad Impact

Voices of PeaceHealth

“

With the new rooftop helipad, transport time will be reduced by 5-10 minutes, as we will not have to transfer patients to an ambulance gurney, into the ambulance, and then drive over to the ED. For these very sick patients, minutes (and sometimes seconds) matter! Every moment that goes by without proper treatment can mean the difference between life and death.
